

My three essay topics:

1. Psychology and sounds;

To explore the relationship between the psychological aspects and sound designs, for example mental illness related to the treatment through integrated music, sound works. Depression, bipolar disorder, uncertain emotion change... all of these problems could be involved in the discussion between two irrelevant subjects meanwhile find a way to solve it.

2. Forgotten East Asian Music and sounds;

The ancient east Asian cultures include many varieties of unpopular sounds formed from different instruments, which are different from the modern ones like piano, violins, they seem carry more meaningful events that are worthy making more researches on.

3. Human and sound designs.

In daily life, human beings cannot express some desires that others seem very unreasonable. Expressing a certain self-thought through sound seems to be a way that is neither stingy nor obscure. Often in some sound works and we can hear the expression of thinking about human nature and the exploration of human rights. It's an endless way of finding and speaking out.
